

ANNOUNCEMENT

VI Ibero-Latin American Dermatology Congress

Sponsored by the Ibero-Latin American Dermatology College (C.I.L.A.D.), the Congress will be held in Barcelona, Spain, on July 24 to 27, 1967.

Hon. Pres. Prof. X. Vilanova (in Memoriam); President Prof. Juvenal Esteves, and Executive President Dr. J. Mercadal Peyrí.

OFFICIAL SUBJECTS OF THE CONGRESS

I Genodermatoses; II Seborrheic Eczema

It will also be possible to present papers on selected subjects. Manuscripts must be registered and a summary of the text submitted before April 15, 1967.

There will also be special Conferences by eminent dermatologists invited by the Executive Committee.

Other activities: Presentation and discussion of clinical cases. Scientific and Commercial Exhibits.

Official languages: Spanish and Portuguese. The papers written in other languages must be translated into Spanish or Portuguese and read in one of these languages. Interpreters and translations will be provided for those languages having a sufficient number of Congress members.

Since these dates coincide with the peak tourist season in Spain, we request the return of the reservation applications and enrollments as soon as possible. Fees: $30 or their equivalent in pesetas for members of C.I.L.A.D.; $40 for non-members and $20 for accompanying persons.

Social events and excursions to different monuments of historic and artistic interest, resorts, visits to museums, folklore feasts and a bull fight. Also optional pre- and post-Congress trips to Majorca, the Costa Brava and Tarragona will be organized.

Correspondence Secretary: Dr. Joaquín Piñol Aguadé, Secretary of the Congress, Faculty of Medicine, Casanova nº 143, Barcelona 11, Spain.
